A NIGHT OF SONGS

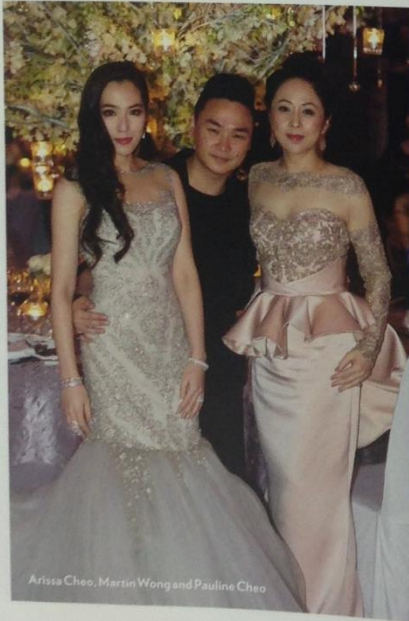

The couple kick-started the celebration with a bang by entering the ballroom singing Michael Jackson's "I Just Can't Stop Loving You", the song that played when they were alone for the first time. They then took turns to deliver a speech, thanking their families and friends for their love and unwavering support. The bride was so full of gratitude for her network of family and friends that she could not help but shed a few tears. The groom's sister and the bride's BFFs also took to the stage to say a few words. Later that evening, Cheo surprised her husband by serenading him with Anne Murray's "I Just Fall in Love", a song she felt aptly described her feelings for her husband. The singing performances didn't stop. The couple's friend, singer-songwriter Wang Leehom, took to the stage and sang a few tunes, including "The One and Only". Other celebrity friends that attended include Jerry Yan, Philip Ng, Jaycee Chan and Andy On. After dinner, the dance floor was opened up to the couple's family and friends, many of whom flew in from overseas including the US, Australia, Hong Kong, Taipei, China and Japan.
